Home & Community Based Services Low Income Elderly Women

272 women over the age of 65 are living in poverty in Dickinson.

Of those 272 women, 196 are over 75 years old.

Who are they?

You see them everywhere, but you likely don't recognize them.

They are the silent poor of our community.

Women whose total monthly income is less than the average 30 year old woman's car payment!

How do they do it?

Some access resources such as housing assistance, heating assistance and food stamps.

Even with these resources, their disposable income is less than what the average woman spends on coffee every month.

They go without. They do without. They survive.
